

Dean Kayser Talks On Roman Leaders

• "THE BIG THREE—A Study in Leadership" will be discussed by Dean Elmer L. Kayser tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. in Lisner lounge.

This second lecture in the Mortar Board Lisner Lecture series will define the political significance of the personalities of Julius Caesar, Marcus Cassius and Cneius Pompey.

Dean Kayser, professor of European history, is a native of Georgetown and received his B.A. from the University in 1917. He began as an instructor in Ancient History and went on to earn his Master's degree here and his Ph.D. at Columbia.

He was secretary of the University from 1918 to 1929 and is now Dean of the Division of University Students. In addition to his survey European history courses, he also teaches a two-year study in Thought and Culture in the Western World, one that he introduced to the University curriculum.

Active in the alumni association and in the American Historical Association, in which he has held many offices, Dean Kayser is also a member of the Secretary of the Navy's Advisory Committee on Naval History and an editor of WORLD AFFAIRS.

In 1942 and during the early days of the second World War Dean Kayser was a radio commentator for several radio networks. He did a special series on Munich, Germany for WRC and the Washington STAR, a foreign affairs daily on WOL and a weekly for WTOP.

Show Highlights Middle East Crisis

by Larry Mihlon

• WHY IS THE Middle East the powder keg of the cold war—the trigger that might plunge the world into uncontrollable conflict? And what is this much-troubled area like today?

Beginning next Sunday, March 16, noon to 12:30 p.m., WRC-TV, and for eight weeks following,

ROGER STUART
... Guest Speaker

"The Other Two Billion" will examine these questions and present through lively conversation and specially selected documentary film the story behind today's Middle East headlines.

This second half of the series, called "Perpetual Crisis in the Middle East," will lead off Sunday with a program titled "The New State of Israel."

Special Guest

Special guest on hand will be Roger Stuart, Washington correspondent of The New York World Telegram and The Sun. Mr. Stuart was present during the 1948 Arab-Israeli border war that preceded the formation of the new state of Israel in May of that year. Mr. Stuart is the father of Roger, Jr. and Bill Stuart, both freshmen at the University, and also Barbara Stuart Swisher, a '56 graduate of the University. He has been a member of "Who's Who in America" since 1948.

Economic Situation

Sunday's presentation will review and describe the Zionist movement; the formation of the state and its governmental organization; and its economic situation after ten years of existence.

In weeks to come, subjects included for treatment by "The Other Two Billion" are: both sides of the Arab-Israeli tension story; the economics and political intrigues of Middle East oil; the differences between Arab patriotism and nationalism; world economic aid and military alliances in the Middle East; and the good and bad effects of "westernizing" influences in the area.

Possible Solution

The final program of the series will discuss: Is the Middle East a hopeless stalemate between east and west—and between ancient hatreds? Or, is there a possible solution? In any case, what should American policy be?

"The Other Billion" is a continuing international affairs program presented every Sunday by The George Washington University School of Government, in cooperation with WRC-TV.

Dorm Applications

• WOMEN STUDENTS who are interested in living in one of the dormitories next fall are requested to make application as soon as possible in the Office of Women's Activities. Room preferences are honored in the order in which applications are received.

Law Day Features Legislative Panel

• THE FOURTH ANNUAL Law Day to be held March 15 in the Roosevelt hotel's grand ballroom will feature a luncheon, a panel discussion and a dinner dance.

Included on this year's Law Day program will be a panel discussion on "Presidential Disability" presented at a 12:30 luncheon. Clark Mollenkopf, correspondent for the Des Moines Register, will moderate the debate between Congressman Kenneth Keating, representative from New York, who introduced pertinent legislation in the House, and Edwin McManus of Georgetown University, who is a Congressional consultant. Also on the panel will be Malcolm Wilkie, assistant Attorney General, who is familiar with the Administration's position, and Charles Collier of the University Law School, who is an authority on Constitutional Law.

Also on the program is the presentation of the Student Bar Association award to the outstanding member of the 1958 graduating class. Dr. Lewis Mayo, Acting Dean of the Law School, will open the luncheon.

A cocktail party and dinner dance will begin at 6:30 p.m. Oliver Gasch, U. S. Attorney for the District of Columbia, will speak on "Law Enforcement and the Mallory Decision."

Highlighting the dance, the Shamrock Ball, will be the crowning of Colleen of the Ball elected from the girl law students nominated by legal fraternities, sororities and independent groups. Eddie Pierce's Orchestra will play for the dance.

The Student Bar Association sponsors Law Day and underwrites the cost of the first 120 package tickets sold to alumni, students and lawyers. Late ticket buyers will pay a higher price.

12 Groups Vie In IFC Sing

• HIGHLIGHTING THIS YEAR'S Inter-fraternity Council Greek Week will be the annual Sing and Prom on March 21 and 22.

Twelve fraternities will compete for awards in the I.F.C. Sing to be held Friday, March 21 at 8:30 p.m. in Lisner auditorium. Cups will be presented to first, second and third place winners as well as to the outstanding sing director by Dr. Robert Harmon, director of the glee club. Each fraternity will sing two songs, one fraternity song and one song of its choice. The Arlingtonians, a group founded because of interest in Barber Shop Quartets will also entertain.

Outstanding delegates to IFC will be awarded keys of recognition.

Art Exhibit

• THE TENTH ANNUAL Art show sponsored by the University Art club and Lisner Library is scheduled to open on April 10 in Lisner Library. The show is open to all University or Corcoran students, and offers a total of $100 in prizes for oil paintings, water colors, graphics and sculpture. Entries will be accepted on March 24 and 25 from 12 to 1 p.m. and 4 to 5 p.m. in the activities office. A fee of $.50 is charged for each entry, and the maximum per person is four entries. Oils must be stripped or framed, and water colors and graphics should be mounted.

tion and the new officers of the Council are to be formally presented. IFC will present a trophy to the fraternity with the highest overall scholarship for the fall semester, and the group which has shown the most scholastic improvement during the semester will receive a trophy from the Sigma Chi Foundation.

From Climaxes

The climax of the week's activities will be the IFC Prom which will be held at St. Bernard's Crystal room in Riverdale, Maryland, from 9:00 p.m. to 1 a.m., Saturday, March 22. Music will be provided by Jack Morton productions under the directorship of Fred Perry, in two connected ballrooms. A "night club" atmosphere will prevail rather than the usual "ballroom" atmosphere provided in former years. According to Bob Moore, chairman of the Prom Committee, the Council will print maps giving directions to St. Bernard's.

Featured at the Prom will be the tappings of outstanding fraternity men for Gate and Key, fraternity men's honorary. Gate and Key will at that time also present the Lacy Garter to an outstanding woman.

Also included in the week's activities are open houses and forums. The open houses will be held on Friday night, March 14, by the on campus fraternities, and on Saturday night, March 15, by the off-campus fraternities. The forums will be held on Wednesday night, March 19, at various fraternities on G street.

'Nuclear Age' Sets Theme For Lisner Talk Thursday

• "REASON AND EMOTION in a Nuclear Age" is the topic slated for discussion by Dr. Jerome D. Frank at 8:00 p.m., Thursday, March 13 in Lisner auditorium.

Baltimore psychiatrist and psychologist, Dr. Frank will talk on the psychological problems that nuclear energy, radioactive fallout, Sputniks and long-range missiles are posing for the American people.

Specific topics which will be considered are the emotional hazards of the arms race and psychological reasons for our "colossal indifference" (General Omar Bradley), how nuclear energy has drastically changed the meanings of words such as defense and national security and the problems these create.

He will also explain how Russia and the United States, each assuming that the other will attack, act in such a way as to make this probable. Finally, he will offer some positive steps to resolve these problems.

A member of the American Medical Association, Dr. Frank has written many scientific articles on group and individual psychotherapy. He is the co-author, with Florence Powdermaker, of "Group Psychotherapy."

Dr. Frank is a member of the American Psychiatric Association, the American Psychological Association and the American Group Psychotherapy Association. He is also affiliated with the Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry.

The talk, sponsored by the University chapter of Psi Chi, psychology honorary, is open to the public. Admission is free.

Since it is such an important and timely subject and will be discussed by an expert in the field, Psi Chi is hoping for a large turn-out.

Debate

• THE TOP RANKING NEGATIVE team in points at the Capital Hill debate sponsored by the University of Maryland two weeks ago were Ed Foley and Dick Jamborsky.

The Saturday session of the debate took place in the Senate Caucus room.

Arguing the affirmative for the University were Bill Daly and Frank Gregory. Bill Daly was judged one of the top ten speakers of the tournament and received a certificate.

If you answered "No" to all questions, you obviously smoke Camels—a real cigarette. Only 6 or 7 "No" answers mean you better get on to Camels fast. Fewer than 6 "No's" and it really doesn't matter what you smoke. Anything's good enough!

But if you want to enjoy smoking as never before, switch to Camels. Nothing else tastes so rich, smokes so mild. Today more people smoke Camels than any other cigarette. The best tobacco gives you the best smoke. Try Camels and you'll agree!

We Think Better Grading

• THE EXCHANGE OF name for a number—a possible way to keep personality out of grading by instructors and student assistants, is explained in the soon-to-be published Amicus Curiae.

The editorial of the law school paper suggests that numbers instead of names be put on test papers. This way the grader will not be tempted to look at the paper of John Smith, whom the grader may be prejudiced for or against. Such a prejudice is less a consideration when an instructor is grading papers than when the work is done by student assistants who may have friends in a class.

Flaws are apparent in a number system. If the number-name list is consulted during grading, the idea fails. If numbers are correlated by alphabet, the system may also break down. Nevertheless, the number game is spreading and successfully. It is already used in several other universities and in some classes at this University. We think the idea has merit and hope that the number system will be used more frequently.

Intellectual Menu

• Intellectual stimulation highlights the Lisner bill-of-fare this week as lecture topics range from the halls of classical Rome to the effects of nuclear warfare on modern emotions.

Wednesday night at 8:30 Dean Elmer L. Kayser will speak on "The Big Three—A Study in Leadership." The address will focus upon the personalities and leadership qualities of the three men, who as the First Triumvirate, shaped the destiny of ancient Rome. Thursday night at 8:00 Dr. Jerome D. Frank will discuss a problem vital to the understanding of today's front page headlines—the psychological effects the many facets of our nuclear age have on the American people.

The lack of intellectual programs at the University is one of the most frequently noted criticisms going the rounds of the campus in the past few weeks. Talks sponsored by campus organizations are a good way of filling this much discussed gap. This week's addresses offer food for thought beyond the scope of the usual classroom lecture—the topics are of broad and extremely different natures and both have significance to present day affairs.

All students with a genuine interest in increasing their intellectual activities will welcome the opportunity afforded by this week's menu at Lisner.

Our Readers Think . . .

• TO THE EDITORS:
IN DISCUSSING PLAY-WRIGHT Arthur Miller in last week's Hatchet, Bruce Kannee in a favorable tone calmly remarked that Mr. Miller's views are "well left of center." I should like to point out to Mr. Kannee that Communism, too, is "well left of center."

Mr. Kannee goes on to say that "Death of a Salesman" made Miller a target of vitriolic attacks for being subversive, but that the play won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1949. The phrasing of this statement and the device of putting "subversive" in quotes implies that the attacks were unfounded, whereas the records proved otherwise.

In one report alone, The 5th Report on Un-American Activities in California, 1949, Arthur Miller is listed as being affiliated with fifteen Communist and Communist-front organizations and activities.

Mr. Kannee should be careful about what he says and how he says it. A little preliminary research with reliable sources is usually the safest procedure.

• TO THE EDITORS:
RECENTLY AN ORGANIZATION for student interest was formed at this school which has received a great deal of controversy, mostly perhaps negative. It is with a sense of amazement that I view the controversy; can an organization dedicated toward collegiate political freedom, academic betterment, and student awareness have but a positive connotation.

Objections to the organization come from those who deny the right of expression to students in their college life, and from others who feel that the need for such an organization does not exist. I feel that I do have a right to objectively and constructively further my University and in fact I have a duty to do so—"For whom does the bell toll?"—for you! Lack of political participation in national and international affairs, barren cultural means, vague promises of athletic facilities, student apathy in all fields are just a few of the things we must work on.

The Organization for Student Action to my mind has produced student interest in George Washington and for that reason the student body, alumni, and yes, faculty owe those few individuals of courage who withstood the barrage of opposition, a great debt.

Miller's 'View From The Bridge' Marks Peak In Campus Drama

By Betsy Evans

• IT TAKES LITTLE real courage for a group of college actors to undertake a light comedy or a witty farce or a Victorian melodrama. It demands true intestinal fortitude for such a group to shoulder the task of presenting a deep and penetrating and controversial modern tragedy. And thus the University Players' production of Arthur Miller's "A View From The Bridge" in Lisner auditorium last weekend not only marked a new high in dramatic enter-

"A View From The Bridge" is the tragedy of Eddie Carbone, a Brooklyn longshoreman, an essentially simple man faced with a dilemma of massive dimensions. Eddie is tortured by an unnatural love for his 17-year-old niece, Catherine, whom he has raised as a daughter since the death of her mother—his wife's sister—at the girl's birth.

The problem rises to the surface with the arrival of Marco and Rodolpho, cousins of Eddie's wife Beatrice, smuggled into the country by an Italian syndicate to work on the Brooklyn piers. Catherine and Rodolpho, the younger of the two brothers, fall in love. Twisted and torn by jealousy, Eddie accuses Rodolpho of homosexuality. Swiftly and directly the play marches to its inevitable end.

Dolson Superb

Cast in the difficult role of Eddie Carbone was veteran University actor Robert Dolson. His performance was a study in intensity. Externally jovial at the play's outset, he disintegrated visibly as the conflict within him alienated him from the society about him, until in the final scenes he reasoned and reacted as an animal at bay.

Appearing as Carbone's wife Beatrice was Eddie Clark. Her portrayal was touchingly beautiful. Trapped, frustrated, distraught by the situation in which she found herself, Miss Clark yet retained a sincerity and warmth which enriched and magnified her role.

Almost as moving as the estrangement between Eddie and Beatrice was the love of Rodolpho and Catherine, as played by two newcomers to the University stage, Chuck Johnson and Hope Barton. Especially unforgettable was their single love scene, which opened the second act. Its tenderness was an almost tangible thing. Miss Barton, in the larger of the two roles, displayed throughout the entire play a freshness and simplicity somehow reminiscent of Shakespeare's Juliet.

Equally excellent was Vince Mortorano, who appeared as Marco.

Completing the cast were Dick Cook as a narrator-lawyer; Ed Rutsch and Paul Garner, both effective as light-hearted longshoremen; Audrey Kirland, silently impressive as an aged Italian neighbor; Bill Dotson, Chic Trueblood, Karl Schmid, Don Wasserman, Dick Bowden, Carole Ross and Bernadette Wilson.

Ramsey Directed

Probably more credit for the play's overwhelming success is due director Logan Ramsey than anyone else involved. The essential unity and energy of the performance bore the unmistakable stamp of generally superb direction.

Two physical aspects of the production did prove disconcerting at times. One was Mr. Ramsey's the Hatchet for the editorial entitled "Campus Politics" which gave a brief but accurate description of the seemingly Utopian concept of change in our campus politics as advocated by the OSA (Outspoken Students Association). We agree with the editorial in that change should evolve if present procedures fail to attain their purpose. However, these procedures have not as yet proven unfair, unworkable, or undemocratic.

When a group such as OSA bands together to admittedly "pressure" the Student Council as well as other organizations for what seems to be their own purpose, nothing develops except a disrespect for its members, Thomas Paine and his noisy band of followers.

practice of disregarding the old don't-turn-your-back-to-the-audience tradition. While this may have added to the concentration of the play itself, it may also have robbed most of the audience of several very meaningful speeches. The other was the simple fact that throughout the performance Eddie Carbone needed a haircut.

Eloquent Work

The entire production was characterized by what critic Wolcott Gibbs has described as "a certain harsh and grotesque eloquence."

Perhaps the finest tribute the members of the audience paid the cast and director was not the three curtain calls they demanded after each performance, but the hushed, shaken mood in which they took their seats following the intermission and the relative stillness with which they left the auditorium when the tragedy had run its course. No one of them could deny that he had witnessed the powerful and deeply moving presentation of a powerful and deeply moving play.

Sophomore Letty Katz Tops In Grades, Greeks, Groups

by Kitty Hyland

• "THE BUSIEST PEOPLE have the most time"—you could afford to say that also if you had a 3.92 Q.P.I., and a list of fifteen major activities as does the new Panhellenic President Letty Katz.

The possessor of deep dark eyes and lovely dark brown hair, Letty is one of the most active sophomores co-eds at G.W. Her run-down of activities reads like that of a busy graduating senior.

Valedictorian of Frederick Sasser High School and voted most Outstanding Senior, Letty has lived up to this prediction here at G.W. She is a member of Big Sis, Delphi, Alpha Theta Nu (scholarship holders honorary), Alpha Lambda Delta (freshmen women's honorary), and President of Tasseis (sophomore women's honorary). Committees she has served on include: Faculty Relations Chairman for Homecoming '57, Student Liaison Committee '57, Student Handbook Committee '58, and the Music Committee. As an added activity she is Copy Editor of the 1958 Cherry Tree. Vice President of Panhel for 1957, she served as coordinator of all phases of the Goat Show and the Panhellenic Sing.

Letty is a member of Phi Sigma Sigma Sorority. She held office as the President of her pledge class, Panhel Delegate and Scholarship Chairman. In her Freshmen year she was selected as the "outstanding pledge" of Phi Sigma Sigma. She states that she has never regretted joining a Greek group. She feels that lasting friendships are made in sorority life and adds that she is very excited about the upcoming convention in Atlantic City.

Scholarship Important

Letty is fully aware that our primary college objective should be good scholarship. As evidence of this, she was selected as having the highest pledge average of 1956 which was a nice round 4.0, as well as having the highest Freshmen Woman's Average.

In her spare time, which she declares she has, Letty helps her mother run their General Store in Upper Marlboro, Maryland. "This is a General Store with a modern touch" states Letty, "and it is a wonderful place to meet travelers and hear the town news."

Letty's hours of relaxation are spent listening to her new hi fi play her extensive record collection. Spanish music and dancing is by far her favorite and she is rapidly adding Spanish albums to her collection. She also enjoys reading but states that she has no favorite author. She plays basketball and badminton, neither of which she has mastered, she says. She also spends great perods of time teaching her parakeet to say "Pretty Letty."

Future Plans

Letty has some very promising future plans. She does want to do graduate work but she has not decided the University she will attend. This summer she will take a trip to Canada and next summer it's off to Mexico. "My real travel will come in 1960," says Letty, "when I take my European trip." Activities, hobbies, scholarships, travel, sports, dates, and a host of other experiences certainly seem to make for a busy and exciting college career. Imagine what this girl will do with the two years she has left.

● CULTURE AND PARTY news, is the unlikely combination that G. W. came up with this weekend as drama made its climb up the social calendar in a big way Saturday night.

Last Friday night, after enjoying the play, the Sig Eps threw a buena viaje (good trip) party for Albert Yasigi, a brother who will soon return to his native Brazil. The party was one of SAE's memorable blasts, with all the necessary ingredients: a full house, Sig Ep dishwasher (with the soap suds on top), music and fun and frolic for all. Seen among the wellwishers were Dave Glendening and Gayle Cook ADPI, Ed (Slats) Hawkins and Janice Platt, Jim Batties, transfer from Ohio State, and Betsy Evans, Pi Phi Prexy, Hans Zassenhaus and Margie Carter.

To the Sig House, after the theat, dahling!!! Many, many of the twice-a-year theatre goers (GWU version) congregated at the Sigma Chi establishment, following the play Saturday night. From where I stood, I had quite "A View From The Bar," and I saw, among others, Hal Bergem and Deuteron T. C. Aronoff, Bob Sneed and Kappa Marilyn Whaley, Al Pope and Mealie Johnson, Jack Tarr and Kappa Gail Itschner, Ray Looney and Kappa Butch Russel, and Sigma Chi's newest pledge, Val La France and Rosemary Rosa.

The Chi O's had a big blast at the cocktail party at Clare Calvert's house before the recent Panhel Prom. Among those seen there were: new prexy Elaine Mosel and Lenny Metallo, Margie Thomas and David Zverner, Lambda Chi Alpha transfer from Wabash, Fanita Bartoo and SAE plimato Dick Martin, Carolyn Tucker and Pike Dave Fouget, Mario Tyler and Pike Louie Holman, Ann Cole and Acadia Gary Banks, Bobbie Wash and Marine 2nd Lt. Owen Baker, Jean Darby and Dubby Moore, Mary Duncan and Jim Mooney, Karen Gross and Robert Thornhill, Clare Calvert and Joe Morris.

Chi Omega proudly announces the planning of Joan Darby and Dubby Moore, Sigma Nu from Maryland U. and Deuteron announces the engagement of Sheila Footter to Bert Myers.

The Phi Sig's once again played host for the traditional cast party after the play Saturday night. Ed Ferero was all smiles (as usual) over the success of "A View From The Bridge" which many deemed the best of Ed's career. Bob Dolson came in for congratulations on his performance, as did Hope Barton and Eddy Clark. The relief of "having it all over with" made it a whine-ding of a party, and the Phi Sig basement fairly burst at the seams from the crowd of players and well wishers.

Phi Sigma Sigma held a gala dinner in honor of Letty Katz's birthday before their sorority meeting last week. Seen at a lovely cocktail party for Phi Sig, given by Betty Pitt before Panhel Prom, were Eve Bronstein and Burt Bright, Sally Gellman and AEPI Eric Mendelsohn, Sandy Spivak with Jerry Pollack, Linda Friedman and Arthur Goren, Linda Yuter with TEP Al Perlman and Letty Katz with Dave Steinman.

The SAE and the DGs held a reciprocal exchange on Friday. The DGs served a lunch that was fit for a king and that evening the SAEs held a "Pajama Exchange" with much strange costuming.

The SAEs were targets for other deeds. Among some missing things like light bulbs and trophies, the Kappa pledges (now actives) kidnapped the SAE mascot Gindratt. To get the dog back some of the brothers kidnapped Kappa pledge Eltheer Wardfield—negotiations were held for the exchange of prisoners.

Kappa Sigma had an exchange with Delta Zeta recently. Seen around the punch bowl frequently were Pat Kallis, Irvin Hale, Kathy Herckner, Larry Mihlon and Martha Mitchell.

A vivid but incongruous assortment of "movie stars and Broadway personalities" swarmed through the Pike House Friday night in an extravaganza officially titled "Pi Kappa Alpha Oscar Party, 1958." Bernie Passeltiner was M.C., as appropriately dressed couples acted out skits from famous movies and plays. Judges Bill Player, Pat Yeatman, John Keen, and Margie Dean awarded Oscars to the following: Ken Kling and Liz Baumjardner for a scene from Sayonara—most authentic costume; Charlie Allicks for his dual role as Fairy and Puck (Midsummer Night's Dream) — funniest.

Seen at the Med School Folies Saturday night were Leon Sheer and Judy Jaffe, Steve Landau and Judy Guttman, Jim Klinenberg and Lynn Potash, and Steve Levy and Patti Brett.

Foreign Students Meet in Union

by Gregg Mayer

● ON THE SECOND FLOOR of the Student Union one finds a variety of people with an assorted amount of interests, whims and languages. To the background of the jukebox, Iran meets France, Russia meets America, and Indonesia meets Italy.

At the first table sit those of sorority and fraternity fame, those who are proficient at jitterbug, collegiate sports and in snapping their fingers in time to the music. At the second table sits the unofficial international debating society. This group is comprised of students from abroad who, with the aid of a chess board, a package of cigarettes and Union coffee, discuss the international problems of the day.

Included in the menage is Catherine Caillois. Catherine is a Parisian, majoring in English literature. She has been here for six months and spends her extra time in the Union; she meets her friends and takes a break from classes. When asked about Washington, Catherine said, "I think it is a beautiful city, although not comparable to Paris." "I prefer Rome," interjected a gregarious fellow from guess where. Catherine continued, "The Philips Gallery and the other museums are wonderful. For entertainment, I go to parties, but I don't generally date." "Neither do I," agreed the same fellow.

Next along the table was Brigitte Grimal, deeply engrossed in a chemistry book. Born in Nancy, France, Brigitte has been in this country for 15 months and is doing well with her English. In reply to the usual questions on dating, she smiled and said, "I am engaged to someone in France; he is studying medicine there but I'll see him in the summer." Getting down to mundane matters, she added that she thought the University atmosphere to be very enjoyable and that the Union affords her a chance to see her friends. Her sister, Annie, is a physics major.

From Tehran, Iran, comes Hormoz Adle, a civil-engineering student. Although he studied premed at Davis & Elkins, he has been here only a month, having returned to Iran in the interim.

SAE Celebrates

● SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON'S 100,000th initiate Anthony Dole was presented with his pin by Supreme Eminent Archon Lee S. Cade at an alumni luncheon last Thursday at Gusti's restaurant. This was one part of a very ceremonious weekend for the fraternity. Saturday March 8 was the 102 Anniversary of SAE, and was celebrated with their Founder's Day dinner at the Washington Press club. The featured speaker at the banquet was Representative Warren Harris of Arkansas.

November 30 will mark the 100 Anniversary of the Washington City Rho Chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

FOR BETTER OR FOR WORSE

The first thought that comes into our minds upon entering college is, of course, marriage. But how many of us go about seeking mates, as I like to call them, in a truly scientific manner? Not many, you may be sure.

So let us today make a scientific survey of the two principal causes of marriage—personality need and propinquity.

Personality need means that we choose mates because they possess certain qualities that complete and fulfill our own personalities. Take, for example, the case of Alanson Duck.

As a freshman Alanson made a fine scholastic record, played varsity scrabble, and was president of his class. One would think that Alanson was a totally fulfilled man. But he was not. There was something lacking in his life, something vague and indefinable that was needed to make his personality complete.

Then one day Alanson discovered what it was. As he was walking out of his class in Flemish pottery, a fetching coed named Grace Ek offered him a handsome red and white pack and said, "Marlboro?"

"Yes!" he cried, for all at once he knew what he had been needing to round out his personality—the hearty fulfillment of Marlboro Cigarettes, the soul-repairing mildness of their fine tobacco, the easy draw of their unparalleled filter, the ease and convenience of their crushproof flip-top box. "Yes, I will take a Marlboro!" cried Alanson. "And I will also take you to wife if you will have me!"

"La!" she exclaimed, throwing her apron over her face. But after a while she removed it and they were married. Today they live happily in Baffin Land where Alanson is with an otter-glazing firm and Grace is a bookie.

Propinquity, the second principal cause of marriage, simply means closeness. Put a boy and a girl close together for a sustained period of time and their proximity will certainly ripen into love and their love into marriage. A perfect example is the case of Fafnir Sigafoss.

While a freshman at Louisiana State University, Fafnir was required to crawl through the Big Inch pipeline as part of his fraternity initiation. He entered the pipe at Baton Rouge and, alone and joyless, he proceeded to crawl north.

As he passed Lafayette, Indiana, he was agreeably surprised to be joined by a comely girl named Mary Alice Isinglass, a Purdue freshman, who, oddly enough, had to crawl through the Big Inch as part of her sorority initiation.

When they reached the Vermont border they were going steady

Chatting amiably as they crawled through Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York State, Fafnir and Mary Alice discovered they had much in common—like a mutual affection for licorice, bobbleheading, and the nonsense verse of Arnold Toynbee. When they reached the Vermont border they were going steady, and when they emerged from the pipe at Boothbay Harbor, Maine, they were engaged.

After a good hot bath they were married and today they live in Klamath Falls, Oregon, where Fafnir is in the weights and measures department and Mary Alice is in the roofing game. They have three children, all named Norman. © 1958, Max Shulman Propinquity is sure to mean love when you put yourself close to a pack of Marlboros, made for your pleasure by the sponsors of this column.

MY CLOSEST SHAVE by Elgin Ciampi

Skin Diver, Shark Expert, Author

"My closest shave happened under water while baiting sharks to photograph," says shark expert Elgin Ciampi. "My speared bait-fish hid in a hole, pouring clouds of blood around me. Smelling blood, a 7-foot man-eater, unable to find the bait, rushed me. I dodged and started taking pictures. I kept the camera between us while the shark circled hungrily for five full minutes. Then my air supply ran short, so I used psychology: I lunged at the shark with my camera. Startled, he shot away—and so did I!"

Howard - GW Panel Talks On Inter-group Relations

• FOUR STUDENTS FROM Howard University will be guest panelists in a discussion on "The Student's Role in Inter-group Understanding" to be held tonight in Government 1 at 9:00 p.m.

Russell J. Bradley, executive director of the National Council of Christians and Jews, will moderate the debate. Al Rode, Student Council president; Kittl Maddock, member of the HATCHET Board of Editors; Mike Kammen, president of the Religious Council, and Ed Felegy, senior member of the Debate society will represent the University in the discussion.

The program is being held in connection with Brotherhood Week, an annual observance initiated by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Arrangements for the panel have been made by the O.S.A. in cooperation with James Brown, president of the Howard University Student Council. The discussion is open to anyone interested in attending.

Other activities planned by the O.S.A. include further panel discussions, the continuation of the cultural calendar, informal coffee-discussion groups among students, and the scheduling of a concert in April.

Girls Extend Win Streak

Nancy Beale was top scorer for the Colonials with 11 points, while Janis Platt and Virginia Freeman netted nine points apiece.

Jayne Smythe, the Buff's high scorer in previous games, was kept on the bench for most of the game to see if the team could function without her. Miss Smythe had previously scored 26 points a game against Dunbarton and American University.

This victory gave the Colonials their third straight win of the season with two remaining games to play. Immaculata and Trinity are the two teams that separate the Buff from an undefeated season. Trinity is considered to have one of the better basketball teams.

G. W. got off to an early lead in the Gallaudet game and was never headed. At half time the score was 20-11.

Girls' basketball differs from regulation basketball in various ways. There are three guards and three forwards, each on one half of the court. Neither can cross the half court line.

The forwards can only dribble twice when they have possession of the ball. After a basket the ball is taken out by a forward at mid-court and two passes are required before a basket can be

William & Mary Beats Buff In Tourney

Sports Special

by Paul Truntich

• ONE DAY, a few years ago, a bright-eyed, eleven-year-old youngster walked up to the coach of the St. Joseph's grade school basketball team and asked for the job of manager. The coach, in need of players, replied: "I'll do even better than that. I'll make you a member of the team."

Despite never having played the game before, that youngster soon became a member of the starting team and in the years that followed, he has been a starter on every basketball five on which he has played. That boy, who wanted to be a manager and became a star player instead is Howard "Bucky" McDonald, captain and leading scorer on this year's Colonial team.

Bucky has come a long way since his inconspicuous debut on the grade school five. Since then he has been a standout in high school, service, industrial and now college basketball. Here is his story.

McDonald comes from Martinsburg, West Virginia, a community of 19,000 people in the Eastern Panhandle. He has two sisters, Margaret and Norma, and a brother Henry. An amusing sidelight, Bucky laughingly points out, is that his father wanted to have four boys. To correct the default, Margaret is called Pete and Norma, Bill. Around the house it's Pete, Bill, Ike and Bucky.

TRUNTICH

Starter Four Years

After playing three years on the grade school five, McDonald graduated to St. Joseph's High School where he was a starter all of his four years there. Typical of many West Virginia high schools, St. Joseph's was quite small. It had only 54 pupils in the entire school and 12 in Bucky's graduating class.

At St. Joseph's Bucky made All-State Catholic his junior and senior years and second team All-State (all schools) both years.

In a tournament at Richmond his senior year, Bucky was chosen the Most Valuable Player. A few miles outside Richmond in a girl's basketball tournament going on at the same time, his older sister Norma was chosen that tourney's Most Valuable Player. His other sister Margaret coached the girl's team while his brother Ike played behind him on the St. Joseph's squad.

After graduation McDonald had a chance to go to LaSalle, the same year that the great Tom Gola was also a freshman at the Philadelphia school. Because his mother had cancer, however, he enrolled at Shepherd College, only a few miles from Martinsburg to be closer to home. Uncle Sam stepped in, cutting short his stay there, and drafted Bucky after a month of school.

Played Three Sports

In service McDonald played basketball, baseball and football, making the all-Conference team in football and basketball. He was such a standout in football that he had 16 offers to play college football when he got out of service in October of 1954.

That fall Bucky didn't return to college because the semester was well under way. He played some industrial basketball for Fairchild of Hagerstown where he averaged around 26 points for 90 games. In a tournament there Bucky was nosed out by Corky Devlin, all-time G. W. second leading scorer, as the Most Valuable Player by one point. After that the college scholarship offers began to roll in.

Before starting school the next year, however, Bucky married his childhood sweetheart, Doris Kline. As with everything concerning his life, basketball played a prominent role in the courtship; Bucky met Doris at a girl's basketball game which proceeded the regular varsity game. They have one child, a boy, Anthony, who is 14 months old.

It was a curious and fortunate way that the Colonials landed McDonald. Bucky had decided to go to Georgetown. When he got there, however, Bucky came across several factors which discouraged him about entering the Jesuit school, and he was all set to go back to Martinsburg.

Called Coach Reinhart

Bud Jeanette, then coach of the Hoyas, called Coach Reinhart and told him about McDonald. Reinhart got in touch with Bucky, gave him a trial, and has been glad of his decision ever since.

Bucky's first year with G. W. was last season when the Buff compiled a 3-21 record, the worst in the history of the school. "It didn't seem possible," Bucky said. "It was like a nightmare." McDonald did manage to come up with a 10 point a game scoring average but was too slow to keep up with the other players.

This year has been a different story, however. Bucky has shed 25 pounds and now weighs in at a trim 194. He can move now, lead the fast break and drive, where last season he was doing mostly set shooting. The vast improvement in McDonald carried over to the rest of the team. The 11-10 regular season record of the Colonials was helped immensely by Bucky's 17.3 point a game scoring average.

By no means is McDonald a "gunner," however. He has made over 53% of his field goal attempts to rank in the nation's top ten shooters in that category and has sunk about 73% of his free throws. Despite being aggressive on defense, Bucky hasn't fouled out of a game this year.

Sparked Against Mountaineers

Undoubtedly the best game he has played since coming to G. W. was the West Virginia fiasco a few weeks ago. About 1,100 people from his home town came down for that game, and McDonald didn't disappoint them. The husky guard played every minute of the regulation game and the two overtimes. He connected on 14 of 21 field goal attempts and two of three free throws to wind up with 30 points in just missing leading the Colonials to a major upset.

Bucky said he "thought we had them, but they got away." He also replied that he wanted to "express his thanks to his teammates for playing such a great game as many people thought it would be a runaway."

After the game Coach Freddie Schauss of West Virginia came over to McDonald and apologized to Bucky for not putting him on the first All-Southern Conference basketball team. I'll venture to say that many other people were probably thinking the same thing that evening.

League Titles Settled; Playoffs Begin Week

by Aaron Knott

• DELTA THETA PHI (a) walked off with the league F title Wednesday night as it downed the Clowns, 75-27. This win gives the high scoring Lawyers a berth in the playoffs which will begin this Thursday.

The league E title is still up in the air as the three way tie between Delta Tau Delta (a), Wesleyans, and Indians makes an intraleague playoff necessary.

This Saturday the Deltas defeated Med. Sch. (b) (which knocked the Doctors out of the league race), while the Wesleyans beat Sigma Nu (b), and the Indians defeated Med. Sch. (c).

Last night the Deltas met the Indians, and the winner of that game takes on the Wesleyans tomorrow night. The winner of tomorrow's game takes the league title and a spot in the playoffs.

In one of the most closely contested games of the season, PIKA (a) beat AEPI (a) in one overtime to win the league D title and a spot in the playoffs. PIKA won 50-37 after four of the five AEPI starters fouled out.

It was a close game until the overtime, and the advantage shifted from one side to the other. AEPI outscored PIKA in the first quarter 9-6, but PIKA gained 2 points during the second period to trail at the half 12-11.

In the opening period of the second half AEPI surged ahead to outscore PIKA by seven points to go into the final quarter with a 24-16 lead.

With the league title at stake both teams were out to win and fouls were being called right and left. With a few minutes left in the final quarter AEPI starters Milt Michaelis and Roy DuBrow were fouled out.

In the final quarter PIKA caught up and then went ahead. With three seconds remaining in the game PIKA was ahead 35-33 when AEPI Rick Silas let loose a long desperation shot that rolled around the rim and then dropped through to send the game into overtime.

PIKA came through in the clutch and outscored AEPI 15-2 in the overtime to take the game.

Other league winners were: the Jersians took league C; Med. Sch. (a) are the league B champs; and Sigma Chi is the league A winner.

Buff Shooters Split Matches

• THE COLONIAL RIFLE team placed second in a triangular meet at Maryland University last Saturday.

Maryland scored 1,406 points to take the meet and edge G. W. who scored 1,398. Catholic University came in last with 1,375.

Individual Scores:

Nordquist	288
Schlosser	283
Rule	279
Seidel	276
Hertig	272

Washington & Lee beat the Buff earlier in the week at Lexington, Virginia, 1394-1388. The team was hampered by the absence of Courtney Schlosser, the second best shooter on the squad. Schlosser was involved in a minor automobile accident the morning of the match.

The Women's rifle team defeated the Drexel Institute of Technology in a shoulder-to-shoulder match at the G. W. range, 992-956.

Seven of the Colonials scored higher than Drexel's top scorer. This was the first shoulder-to-shoulder match for many of G.W.'s women and the first of the season for the team. Most women's competition is performed on a postal basis.

The course of fire consisted of two ten-shot stages in the prone position for a total of two hundred points. The total score of the highest five shooters counted as the team's total.

Cold Shooting Stops G. W.

by BOB LIPMAN

• "TOURNAMENTITIS" HIT the Buff last week as they got knocked out of the Southern Conference Tourney for the fourth year in succession.

This time it was William & Mary who applied the pressure and emerged with a 57-56 victory over the Colonials.

The brand of basketball G. W. was playing prior to the tournament had Colonial fans visualizing a West Virginia-George Washington final, and after the club's last two-overtime meeting, the outcome was not too clear.

But the Colonials showed that they were down for the tournament at the outset. In their opening game against Furman, the Buff had to put the pressure on the Palladians in the last seven minutes, 73-59.

Bucky McDonald kept the Buff in the game in the first half hitting on set shots from outside the foul circle. In the second half Bill Telasky got hot, and leading the fast breaks, pushed the Colonials out of range.

Telasky led G. W. with 24 points, while McDonald tossed in 20. Gene Guarilia cleared the boards and netted 13 points.

Poor Percentage

The Buff were far off in their shooting percentage though. G. W. hit on a little better than 30 per cent in the first half and came back with a percentage of 51.9 in the second half.

G. W.'s cold shooting was evident against the Indians. It seemed to be just a bad night for the Colonials all around. Bad shooting, poor passing and little rebounding rounded off what turned out to be a disastrous night for the Buff.

Although G. W. was having its trouble, the Colonials still kept close, trailing by only two points at the half, 29-27.

Last Shot

Still keeping on the heels of William & Mary, the Buff were losing by one point with ten seconds to play. McDonald took a set, but the ball bounced off the rim, was touched by two players, and went out of bounds.

A jump ball was called with three seconds left, but the ball was tapped out of bounds.

Guarilia, Howie Bash and Sam Knigley left the game in the second half with five personal fouls.

Guarilia led the Colonials with 15 points, while Telasky and McDonald had 13 points apiece.

Mountaineers Win

West Virginia took the tournament with ease, rolling over Davidson, Richmond and William & Mary. All of the Mountaineers substitutes were in every game and hardly any strong opposition was thrown against West Virginia.

The Colonials ended the season with a 12-11 record. Actually, it was a successful season for a G. W. five that wasn't supposed to materialize into prominence until next season.

After five straight losses the Buff began to get hot and won 12 out of their last 18 games.

Earlier this week G. W. beat Georgetown, 77-64, to insure a winning season. It was this game that made most people think that George Washington could go all the way to the N.C.A.A. playoffs, because the Hoyas had given Maryland, the Atlantic Coast Conference Champion, a tough fight before losing, 56-46.

Spring Football

Spring football practice finally got under way last Monday after inclement weather had postponed the opening of the drills for two weeks. Coach Bo Sherman has his squad, including only eight lettermen, practicing at Frog Island. The Colonials had a 2-7 mark last year after compiling an 8-1-1 record the previous year, including a victory in the Sun Bowl.
